

Thank you for your interest in HRO^{TODAY}

HRO Today strives to provide the latest research, trends, and peer-to-peer learning in each issue. We do accept vendor-neutral bylined articles written with our senior-level HR officer readership in mind. We look for stories (between 800 and 1,200 words) that provide actionable information and key takeaways, and are supported by independent research.

Here are examples of contributed content that really hits the mark.

Workforce Management

Five Retention Strategies for 2023

New work paradigms offer HR the opportunity to evolve with employee preferences.

By Claudine Hoverson

The Benefits Package

Choosing the Right Compensation Strategy

With remote work increasing, is a location-based or value-based pay policy better?

By Emily Connery

Workforce Models

CASE STUDY: Unifying Global Remote Workers

Software and services organization Cleo leverages six strategies to promote collaboration and integration among multinational workforces.

By Becky Kowall